

Hi,

I understand that the FCC looking at a new broadcast service using LPFM. I am concerned this will take priority over the FM translators in my area used by KLOVE. Klove provides me with Christian news and information I can not find elsewhere and offers help for anyone at all who is in a crisis situation. KLOVE is positive and encouraging in every way, something that is difficult to find on public radio. There is no substitute for KLOVE where my needs are concerned, they fill a spiritual need of mine on a daily basis without commercial interruption and offer assistance to anyone listening with their six on staff pastors and 1-800 number. Hundreds of thousands of people pay to support KLOVE every month because of this and because of the family friendly programming they offer. That is evidence in itself of its value. I ask that you would re-consider the changes you are proposing. Thanks for your time.

Sincerely,

Shawn McDevitt
